About Brazilian Blue Hard Wax:

- Brazilian Blue is a Hard Wax - Use without Epilating Strips
- 1000g Bag – Larger Quantity and More Economical than comparable 800g Bags
- Approximately 35 1 oz applications per Bag
- Low Temperature Wax, Significantly reduces the chance of Irritation and Redness
- Remains Elastic and Pliable, Flexible for up to 1 Hour after Application

Instructions for Brazilian Blue Hard Wax Application

1. Pour Beads into variable temperature wax heater. The beads will heat quicker than wax cubes or can wax. Ideal temperature is +/- 55°C (131°F). When completely melted, the wax will remain rather thick and easy to work with.
2. With a Wooden Wax Applicator, take a quantity of wax from the heater, and apply on clean, prepared skin (like in a small pile). Spread the wax from the “pile” into a thin film, about 1/3” thick. Be sure to spread in the direction of hair growth. It’s important that the borders of the wax strip are a bit thicker to avoid raveling. **This wax is designed to be applied thin, not thick. Use approximately 1 oz per area being waxed.
3. Wait a few seconds and test with your fingers if the wax has coagulated sufficiently. If the wax has “set up”, you are ready to remove.
4. In a fast motion, remove the wax in the opposite direction of the hair growth. Apply Hairaway Pre-Post Oil to remove any remaining wax and soothe the skin.

Troubleshooting:

- Make certain the wax is at the right temperature. If the wax is too hot, the wax will become too thin. If the wax “breaks up”, then it is too thin. If the wax is too low of a temperature, the wax will have difficulty to spread properly.
